Chaired by Mr. Demetrio Madrid and acting as Jury Secretary Mr. Yvan Corbat unanimously agreed to award The Gabarron International Award for Thought and Humanities 2012 to the American novelist, poet and essayist

Siri Hustvedt

For her tireless investigative work, that has allowed her to integrate with a single voice and highly original ideas of philosophy, neuroscience, psychology or psychoanalysis in her literary, creative and documentary work. The Jury has also wanted to underscore her contribution to the understanding and discovery of Fine Arts, through her many essays and articles.
